With the Mississippi River at New Orleans a background, the hundreds of baby blankets collected in the area for the Kimmer Memorial Hospital are finally loaded on a banana boat to Quito, Ecuador. Shown here helping load the bundles are R. Notebook

Some weeks when it comes time to write a column I look at this typewriter and ponder hard for a subject. This week, however, I had several ideas, yet a letter that came to me on Tuesday made every other subject pale into insignificance. It was a letter from a dear friend, a person who qualifies for that oftentimes exploited designation of "Senior Citizen." I say it is oftentimes exploited because I have seen and heard people, politicians especially, who think that if they advocate free medicine, pensions, pie in the sky and chicken every Sunday for the old folks, they're going to get a flock of voters coming their way.

The financial considerations for our senior citizens are necessary of course, but I agree with my letter-writing friend that what is just as important as financial security is the life-giving ingredient of companionship, fellowship, attention and more than anything else the knowledge that people care about them and love them. Some of the saddest experiences I have ever witnessed have been those occasions when I visited in the home of an elderly person, whose children were grown and gone and the spouse was deceased. There's an aura of loneliness inside that one cannot escape... the home is sadly permeated with happier memories of years gone by.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church must have experienced my feelings, too, but they did something about it. They spearheaded a program to organize a Senior Citizen's Club that has been extremely successful. The members meet at the Methodist Church, but the membership is composed of all denominations. It is a truly magnificent endeavor. Much credit is due many people, especially Mrs. E. W. Hart, who manages to keep things very active for these wonderful people.

The letter that I received is enlightening, encouraging and thought-provoking. It is enlightening because it shows us clearly that just because these senior citizens have passed the age of vigorous activity, their minds have not turned to atrophy. They want to live and do constructive things. It is encouraging because I hope I can be as happy and active as they are when I'm a little older. It is thought-provoking because those of us who can ought to take recognition and show appreciation for the wholesome lives these senior citizens are carving for themselves. I am going to publish portions of the letter, for it expresses far better than I can the wonderful sentiments of some wonderful people. But more than that, I do hope that publication of this letter will inspire some civic club, some fraternal organization, maybe even our municipalities to extend the warm arm of help to people who deserve everything that we can do for them.

Here's the letter. Please let's do something about it.

"Senior citizens and shut-ins miss the fellowship that most of us take for granted. Many lead abnormal lives for years because our community offers them no recreational or civic center and no programs.

"It is our hope that together we can remedy this situation. Our plans for now are tentative; however, we hope, with your help and with that of others, to make our dream a reality.

Rex Ruddle, John Reeks Reveal They Will Seek Commissioner Posts Independently

South Fulton City Councilman Rex Ruddle and John Reeks, prime movers in the action to bring order into South Fulton's municipal affairs made it known today that they would be candidates for the posts of Commissioner in the special election to be held September 22. Mayor Milton Counce announced last week that he, too, would run for one of the three Commissioner posts to be filled under the new City Manager form of government adopted recently.

When interviewed both men said they are running independently and would not be slated on a three-man ticket. Ruddle, a former Fulton, Ky. police officer has been employed at the Ferry-Morse Seed Company. Quiet, affable and popular he has maintained something of a middle-of-the-road voting record during the stormy Council sessions since the first of the year. While he has generally voted with Mayor Counce and Councilman Bobby Matthews on many motions, he also has voted with the four-man majority faction that has controlled the South Fulton City Council since it went into office. (The four-man faction has been controlled by Councilman John Bland, with Councilmen B. B. Jones, W. W. Claiborne and John Freeman usually voting with him.)

employee is an enthusiastic civil booster on both sides of the border. In 1958 when twin city residents were donating funds to help keep the Henry I. Siegel industry here, Mr. Reeks was one of the first to make a $1000.00 donation. A businessman who believes "that good government is the key to civic progress," Mr. Reeks' several public controversies with the four-man faction may have turned the tide to change the form of government for South Fulton.

Mayor Counce, from his hospital bed told the News on Wednesday that he hopes he can see every South Fulton voter before the election. Perhaps one of the most experienced public officials in West Tennessee, Mayor Counce has served on the South Fulton Council for 18 years, with four years as Councilman serving under three Mayors (Lowe, Hutchens and Rogers) and 14 years as Mayor.

Meanwhile the News was unable to learn if John Bland or B. B. Jones or John Freeman plan to seek one of the Commissioner posts. It is reliably reported that Councilman Claiborne is circulating a petition to secure the required names for filing as a Commissioner candidate.

At a meeting held this week to select candidates to seek the three Commissioner posts it was learned that several other citizens were being mentioned or were considering being candidates.

The name of Councilman Bobby Matthews was brought up, but the group was distinctly cool toward his candidacy even though several people expressed a personal liking for him. Little support was shown for Cleo Peoples.

Bob Lowry, Bill Jetton, Sonny Puckett, Kellie Lowe and Otis Pannel have also been brought into the election picture as possible candidates.

ARRINGTON HOME

Navy Petty Officer Second Class Carl Arrington arrived Saturday to spend his leave with his mother Mrs. C. M. Arrington in Highlands. He recently returned from a six-month tour of duty in Scotland and Spain.

EMILY ADAMS is among the 86 high school students enrolled in an eight-week National Science Foundation program at Western Kentucky State College in Bowling Green. The program is designed for high-ability students who have had limited opportunity to explore the sciences and is offered to them during the summer following their junior year in high school. Emily will be a senior at Fulton County High School this fall.

Charges Against City Employee May Set Pattern For Bitter Campaigning

A call meeting of the South Fulton City Council this afternoon at five p. m. may be an indication of the kind of mudslinging, bitter campaigning that may be waged for the three Commissioner posts to be filled by special election on September 22.

City Clerk Emily Dame revealed today that charges of insubordination have been lodged against William Duncan, a relief employee in the Fire Department. Duncan, closely associated with the forces who successfully brought about the City Manager form of government, has been called "on the carpet" for alleged insubordination to Public Works Supervisor and Fire Chief Neal Clinnard.

According to reports reaching the News, Clinnard ordered Duncan to sweep the floor. When Duncan delayed Clinnard ordered him to do so on two other occasions. Whereupon, the story goes, a few words were exchanged, Clinnard reported the incident to the John Bland faction of the City Council with the resulting call meeting today.

A South Fulton citizen enraged at the fact that the City will have to pay salaries to the councilmen for such an obviously insignificant matter said:

"John Bland and his crowd can fire every city employee they think is against them; thank goodness all this revenge and dog-fighting will be over when that four-man faction gets out of the city administration on September 22."

I-24 Routing, River Bridge Okayed; Traffic Center Here Nears Reality

Interstate Highway 24 will be routed from Paducah through Princeton and Hopkinsville, not through Mayfield and Murray, the federal government announced from the White House Tuesday. The long-sought Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville, Mo., was also approved.

The final decision is a modification of a plan proposed by the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois, and Missouri in place of the Mayfield-Murray routing originally planned by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

The decision enhances the possibility of an extension of the Western Kentucky Parkway from Gilbertsville to Fulton to tie in with US 51 in a projected Cincinnati-to-Texas superhighway and Make Fulton a major highway interchange point in the system.

Approved are 177 miles of I-24 from I-57 near Pulley's Mill, Ill., across a new Ohio River bridge between Metropolis and Paducah, then east across the Tennessee and

Cumberland Rivers to the Western Kentucky Parkway at Princeton and southeast past Hopkinsville and Fort Campbell to Clarksville

Terry Beadles Continues His Already Outstanding Sports Career

By Wayne Anderson

"The Beatles are No. 1 on the disc jockey list. And the Beadles was No. 1 on the football field last night as Terry Beadles, a 6-foot, 170-pound quarterback from Fulton High brought many smiles to UK Football Coach Charlie Bradshaw with some tremendous running."

That was the way Billy Thompson, sports editor of the Lexington Herald Leader, began an article on Terry Beadles' performance in the East-West high school all star football game in Lexington recently.

FHS TICKETS ON SALE

Fulton High School season football tickets are now being sold by the Fulton Jaycees. Adult tickets are $3.75 each and student tickets are $1.75. Please contact some member of the Jaycees for tickets or call 697. The first game will be played August 28.

Terry, as virtually everyone in Fulton knows, was the star of the Fulton High School football team last year. As the kind of boy who naturally attracts friends and fans, it was only natural that a large number of Fulton people made the long trip to Lexington to watch him play and that his outstanding performance was the biggest news in town.

While best known for his football record at Fulton High, Terry was also in the thick of the basketball and baseball competition. In addition to lettering three times in football, he earned letters in basketball all four years and was elected team captain during his senior year.

When asked which sport was his favorite, Terry replied, "Well, probably football; it's hard to say." And his fans have trouble deciding which sport they would rather watch him play.

Terry has been awarded a four-year football scholarship at the University of Kentucky on the strength of his outstanding record at Fulton High. It will mean about $10,000 to him over the four-year period.

As a member of the UK freshman football team, Terry will play in four games this fall, meeting the freshman teams from Vanderbilt, Xavier, Cincinnati, and Tennessee. Packed into only four weeks, the season will run from Oct. 10-31.

Terry is somewhat worried about the effect that such an intense schedule might have on his grades, and has no illusions about the challenge in store for him. He is determined to meet it.

A number of people who know Terry well report that he is the kind of clean, wholesome young athlete that can be pointed out with pride as an example to young boys. He is the son of Mr. and

ACWA Campaign To Boycott Sale Of Siegel-Made Goods Makes Union Member Work Against Himself

Within the past few weeks we had occasion to be in down-town Louisville on a mission for the Banana Festival. Having witnessed the sight many times, we were not too surprised when each time we passed one of the large department stores some individual tried to hand us some kind of a pamphlet.

Thinking back quickly to the fact that Lee Harvey Oswald, the assassin of President John F. Kennedy once distributed some sort of "hate" literature our curiosity was aroused as to the nature of such concerted distribution.

You can imagine our shock when we accepted one of the pamphlets only to learn that the literature was aimed at a boycott of one of the twin cities' leading industries... the Henry I. Siegel Company. Stopping dead in our tracks we asked the young boy who handed us the pamphlet if he knew anything about the Siegel Company and he replied that he didn't... "they just told me to hand these out."

The pamphlet urged shoppers not to buy pants, suits and other men's apparel made by H. I. S.—Henry I. Siegel. They also charged that the Siegel Company was guilty of restraining and coercing certain of its employees from exercising their rights under law to join the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. This information, the pamphlet said constituted unfair labor practices.

You can imagine our chagrin at reading such scurrilous misinformation. Had we not been so thoroughly informed as to the labor relations of the Siegel Company we would not have cared. But to have to read such an unfair attack on one of our industries made us realize how desperately we need stringent laws protecting industries and people from this type of character assassination via the hand-bill route. If the information contained in the circular were printed in a reputable newspaper, that must pass postal regulations, we think that perhaps the Siegel Company would have cause for a libel suit.

The truth of the matter, as we have reported is that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, perhaps unknowingly is attempting to protect one group of workers while certainly injuring other groups from whom they are collecting dues for alleged protection.

Suppose the shopper did heed the advice of the pamphlet, by refusing to buy H. I. S. clothing, thus making it necessary for Siegel to curtail or close its manufacturing activities. Wouldn't the union worker at the Fulton Siegel plant, as well as other unionized Siegel plants be out of jobs as well as the non-union members?

With this kind of ridiculous boycott there is no escape from the fact that the ACWA is collecting dues from its members to hire workers to work against the very workers they are allegedly protecting. How else can you look at it... here is a union member at the Fulton Siegel plant paying his monthly dues for job benefits and protection; yet the money the union worker pays here is being used in a campaign to put him out of a job, too.

Perhaps the Siegel union worker doesn't see it this way, and if he doesn't then we'll admit we don't know much about these things. And that's very possible, because we have many, many friends in both Siegel plants here that we admire and respect.

It is a waste of time to report here at this time the truth of the matter, because all of us who follow these things know the real facts. On two occasions the National Labor Relations Board conducted elections at the South Fulton Siegel plant. Both times the employees turned down the opportunity to be represented by the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. True, a sizeable number of employees voted for union representation, but more of them voted against it. That's the basis of majority rule.

The ACWA proposal was undoubtedly turned down because the workers in South Fulton, those who prefer the union and those who do not, know that the rate scale, the sick leave benefits, the holiday schedule, the working conditions are a dozen other considerations are similar (in some instances better) than the ACWA proposal. So if the majority of the workers, not only in the South Fulton plant, but other non-unionized Siegel plants, want to deal directly with management, rather through any labor union, it seems to us that they should have the pleasure of doing so, in spite of the fact that the minority would have it otherwise.

Now let's understand one thing here and now! We don't want to get into any controversy with the ACWA local or national leadership. They undoubtedly have their reasons for conducting this type of campaign for new members, but we also have the privilege of expressing our opinion about any group that accepts membership dues and then turns around spending said dues in action that could put those very same dues-paying members out of work.

We do not know what percentage of the national men's clothing market that is manufactured by the Henry I. Siegel Company plants. We do know though that there are many, many men's clothing manufacturers in the United States. If the nationwide campaign of the ACWA is successful, and we hope it won't be for the sake of our local citizens, H. I. S. would be replaced with R. I. P. (rest in peace) and hundreds upon hundreds of workers here and elsewhere will soon be unemployment statistics.

So don't you think that the ACWA boycott plan is a little bit silly, as well as downright unfair to the dues-paying employee?

Banana Festival's Brigade For Baby Blankets Gets Editorial Plaudits In Commercial Appeal

The prestigious Memphis Commercial Appeal paid a high compliment to efforts of the local Banana Festival when it editorialized this week on the worthiness of the Festival's Brigade for Baby Blankets project. Here is the editorial for which all of us should be proud.

BANANA CELEBRATION

In railroad yards at the Tennessee-Kentucky line banana cars are dispatched to cities of the North and East. The fruit is unloaded from ships at New Orleans and moves by rail half way up the Mississippi Valley before being assigned to destination cities. Thus the banana is big business for Fulton, Ky., and South Fulton, Tenn.

While other towns have a cotton carnival or a strawberry celebration, the two Fultons have an annual banana festival.

This is an event with added attractions. It calls attention to business across our borders. This is a region in which import-export trade is of high importance because of cotton and new manufacturing plants, yet the ordinary person needs such an event as the Fulton festivities to be reminded of how many jobs depend on a healthy two-way flow of goods in so-called "foreign trade."

The banana festival has also been expanded into an informal good neighbor project. The people of Fulton and South Fulton collect blankets which are sent to children in the Rimmer Memorial Hospital at Quito, Ecuador. And former residents of Fulton who now live along the rails to New Orleans join in. This year's collection in Memphis, for instance, has already produced nearly 100 blankets.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, Union Army troops repulsed a Confederate cavalry force led by Col. Adam R. Johnson. The engagement took place at Morganfield, in Union County, where Johnson had set up headquarters of a Confederate military district and had been issuing proclamations and general orders worded with amazing assurance for one operating so deep in enemy territory. How far behind Federal lines he was may be judged by the fact that at the same time Sherman was approaching Atlanta.

The fight at Morganfield was not decisive, but it was Johnson and not the Union commander who withdrew from the field. The next day at Princeton, in Caldwell County, Johnson was overtaken and attacked again. He lost four killed and four wounded, and again withdrew. It was apparent that his bold effort to control a portion of Western Kentucky was near an end. He was being pursued by the able and aggressive 48th Kentucky (Union) Infantry regiment.

Louisville police surrounded a crowd attending a fair at a Negro church and arrested all the men. The next day those found physically fit for military service were inducted into the Union Army, some of the others were put to work on fortifications still being built around Louisville, and some were discharged.

Federal authorities continued their campaign against guerrillas, by executions and by levying fines on citizens residing near the scenes of crimes. Brig. Gen. Alvin P. Hovey of Indiana imposed a levy of $32,000 upon residents of Morganfield and vicinity, saying the money would be used "to remunerate the government for losses sustained by frequent guerrilla raids." By choosing Morganfield for his Confederate headquarters, Col. Johnson perhaps had created a suspicion that the community was sympathetic. Hovey, a former associate justice of the Indiana Supreme Court, had distinguished himself at Shiloh and in the Vicksburg campaign. In 1864, he had been directed to recruit 10,000 men, and in July he had successfully completed the assignment. He accepted only unmarried men, who were known as "Hovey's Babies."

J. Bloom, J. H. Cave and W. B. McClashan, who were being held in prison at Louisville, charged with being guerrillas, were taken to Franklin, in Simpson County, under a strong guard, to be executed in retaliation for the shooting of Union citizens by unknown persons. A courier caught up with the detachment at Franklin with an order for Cave to be returned to Louisville. The two others were blindfolded and shot to death. Bloom protested to the last that he was innocent, and had never belonged to a guerrilla band. McClashan refused to say anything.

Richmond Berry and May Hamilton were removed from a military prison at Louisville and taken to Bloomfield, in Nelson County. They were shot to death in retaliation for the killing by guerrillas of a Bloomfield man, J. R. Jones.

AUDUBON PARK IMPROVED

Visitors returning to Audubon State Park near Henderson this year will find that the old Tea House has been revamped into a nature and visitors center as a supplement to the John James Audubon Memorial Museum.

Location-Industry Matching Planned By State Agency

The Kentucky Economic Development Commission has signed a contract with Fantus Area Research, Inc., of New York, to prepare an action program for industrial development that will match actual industrial prospects with specific sites in Kentucky that meet the precise needs of the prospects.

Governor Edward T. Breathitt, who announced the move, said the objective is to accelerate the movement of new industry into the state in keeping with his pledge to create 75,000 new jobs in Kentucky during his four-year term in office.

After matching specific sites with the needs of specific industrial prospects, Fantus will recommend specific courses of action for State and local authorities to induce the prospect to locate in Kentucky.

"We are committed to use all the tools at our command to step up the pace of Kentucky's expanding economy," Breathitt declared. "This action program will not only pinpoint our current assets, but it also will recognize our weaknesses and give us suggestions on how to correct them."

Fantus will send a team of consultants to Kentucky to investigate all areas of economic development. Appraisals will be made of labor conditions, manpower training programs, educational resources, community attitudes, experience of present employers, and access to raw materials.

"The commission's decision to go ahead with the study is a big step forward in providing the necessary sales tools to boost Kentucky's economy," the Governor said.

About People and Things

Here we go again with this Small World Department. Last week four of us loaded some 2000 blankets in our station wagon and headed for New Orleans, where the "bundles of warmth" were presented to the Mayor of New Orleans and the Consul-General of Ecuador. En route we stopped at various cities for newspaper interviews and pictures and wouldn't you know that we'd run into former Fultonians. The stop in Memphis to the home of Mrs. Harry DeZonia was planned because this former Fultonian, together with former Fultonians Rudel (Tucker) Murphy and Martha (Rucker) Toon had collected blankets to send on to Rimmer Memorial Hospital in Quito.

But the photographer from the Commercial Appeal who came to take the picture was most interested in all of us when he learned that we were from Fulton. We didn't get the gent's first name, but his last name was Terry. He said that he has not been here for a long time for a visit, but that he has been here in recent years to attend the funeral of an uncle. Native-born Fultonian Mary Nelle Wright, who knows everybody around here and is kin to most of them, was a little too bogged down loaded and unloading those bundles to get all of Terry's family ties, so maybe you might know and be kin to our photographer friend.

On we went to Jackson, Miss. where we stopped at the Jackson Daily News and Clarion-Ledger. The managing editor of that newspaper is Charles Hills, with whom we worked in Clarksdale, first on the Register and then on the paper we started in 1941, the Press. There was a very nice lady who came over to talk with us about our project. She too, was interested to know we were from Fulton and asked if we knew Betty Hastings, who of course we happily pointed out, was one of our best friends.

The Mississippi lady was Elsie Chambers. She is the State editor of the Clarion-Ledger. Her roommate is Evelyn Alverson, a former Fultonian. Elsie met Betty on a visit here when she came with Miss Alverson. Elsie reports that Miss Alverson has retired from school teaching and has not been very well lately.

Then when we got to the Fontainebleau Motor Hotel in New Orleans R. Paul made a call as soon as we got registered. Mercedes Engel and her two boys Bob and Lee were vacationing in New Orleans and were staying at the Fontainebleau. In less time than they could say howdy, all four of them (Mary Jo was with us) were splashing around in one of the three pools at the hotel. Mercedes took the boys on some extremely interesting tours of the city, historically and entertainingly, too.

We have known Mildred (Mrs. Smith) Broadbent ever since we have been in Kentucky. For the past three years we have seen a lot of her, since she nearly always comes to the "Stars In My Crown," board meetings with husband Smith who is on the board. Her daughter Anne Bennett, is a member of the drama cast and nowhere does the association have more loyal supporters.

We are usually so busy at the meetings that long conversations with Mildred have never been possible, but prior to the meeting Monday it was our pleasure to sit at dinner with Smith and Mildred. If we've ever had a more delightful time just talking we can scarcely remember.

Mildred was telling us all the problems of trying to get Anne Bennett ready to go to the University of Kentucky this year to be there for Sorority Rush week that starts about August 27. The show closes on August 30. Besides that, Anne Bennett is so wrapped up in "Stars In My Crown," she hasn't bought that first stitch of clothing or made one preparation for college. The dilemma has Mildred in pretty much of a justifiable dither.

We got around to talking about farming and farm life and Mildred kept us pretty much in stitches as she told how, as a bride she went to live on the farm. "For 25 years I canned, raised chickens, tended a garden and three children before I realized that women on the farm just don't do those things any more." She related her experiences with making grape jelly for which she had our rapt attention. The head of our household brought in about three gallons of Concord grapes a couple of weeks ago and suggested that it would make good grape juice.

For reasons known only to the Good Lord and this reporter we tried to accommodate him, only to find that we either paint the kitchen purple or get a crew of house cleaners in to remove the

Mr. and Mrs. Merryman To Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday

On Sunday, August 23, Mr. and Mrs. Eura Lester Merryman will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary with open house at their home in Riceville from 2 to 5 p. m. A cordial welcome is extended to all friends and relatives to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Merryman were married August 20, 1914 in the courthouse at Bardwell. Their attendants were Miss Ornice Taylor and E. L. King, and Rev. B. T. Huey performed the ceremony. For her wedding fifty years ago, Mrs. Merryman wore a blue silk dress with sheer white embroidered net over-dress and white accessories.

They have lived in Riceville all of their married lives. Four children were born to this union, David Montford, Roy Kilbourne, Mary Lou and Lester Boyd. Montford Merryman and Mary Lou Fulcher reside on Route Four, near their parents. Lester Boyd and family are living in Lancaster, California. Roy Kilbourne died in Chandler, Arizona on December 19, 1968.

There are nine grandchildren: Melvin Lee Merryman, Selfridge

Field, Michigan; Robert Lester Merryman, Fort Benning, Georgia; Mrs. Gale Chupp, Dixon, Illinois; Roy Merryman, Jr., Chandler, Arizona; Debra Sue, Lester B. Jr., and Marylyn Lee Merryman of Lancaster, California and Gary and Kathy Fulcher, Fulton. There are also two great grandchildren: Timothy Lee Merryman, Selfridge Field, Michigan and David Michael Merryman of Fort Benning, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Merryman are members of the Riceville Baptist Church. Mrs. Merryman, 71, proudly wears a Sunday School pin with four bars, indicating that she has a perfect attendance record at Sunday School for the past four years. She has only missed four Sundays during the past eight years. She is church treasurer, having served in this capacity approximately 25 years, and has also served as church clerk and treasurer combined a part of these years. Her hobbies are piecing and quilting quilts and growing flowers, and she has many beautiful varieties of flowers.

Mr. Merryman, 75, began working for the Illinois Central Railroad as a laborer on August 1, 1911. He transferred to the position of fireman in 1913 and was promoted to engineer in 1941, retiring five years ago. Many years ago some of his close friends nicknamed him "Ukelele" or "Ukie" and he is still called by this name. His hobbies are raising chickens, selling billboards, attending lodge meetings and conventions. He is a member of the Blue Lodge, Chapter, Council, Commandery and the Shrine. He is a member of the Southwest Kentucky Shrine Club and has a lifetime membership in the I. C. Shrine Club in Chicago.

The family is hoping that Mrs. Merryman's 88-year-old mother, Mrs. Britt King, who is a patient in McAlister's Rest Home, will be able to be with them to celebrate this occasion.

stains. Mildred was a fellow sympathizer. We think that from now on we'll be buying grape juice and jelly.

It was a fun gathering of the most wonderful, dedicated, congenial group of people with whom we have ever had the pleasure to work.

There can be no doubt that the Banana Festival news is spreading all over everywhere. Tuesday night we were called to the Derby Cafe to meet Mr. and Mrs. Gilson Wright who spent the night in the city simply to find out more about "this Banana Festival business," the gentleman said.

It was an interesting encounter. Mr. Wright is professor of journalism at Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. He is a long-time newspaper editor and currently is correspondent for the Cincinnati Enquirer, Dayton (Ohio) News and the Detroit Free-Press. We told him all about "this Festival business" verbally, as well as presenting him with our bulging press kit. After an hour long session, bending his ear about this year's program, we're expecting some mighty fine feature stories in those papers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright are fabulously interesting people. She teaches school she said "because I can be near my grandson all day long." They have three children. Besides stopping here to learn more about the Festival, they wanted to go over to Columbus-Belmont Park to see the historic sites there. Mr. Wright's ancestor was General John Wilcox who fought in the battle of Belmont.

The incident about this very interesting couple proves conclusively the value of making our town more attractive for the vast amount of tourists that come through here. The Wrights spent the night here, ate dinner and breakfast here, shopped in a local gift shop and bought gas here. Sounds like this pater is editorial-like . . . if it is, just remember again how important the tourist dollar is to our community.

In one of the final honors paid to her before her wedding, Mary Ann Bennett was entertained last Saturday morning by Mrs. Bushart, Miss Lynn Bushart and Mrs. Richard Cardwell at a brunch at the Derby. At this time the bride presented her attendants with gifts and her hostesses presented her with an attractive wooden paper towel rack.

The rehearsal party on Friday night was in the Kentucky room at the Derby, with the parents of the groom serving as hosts at an elaborate smorgasbord dinner.

SAMS VISITING

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Sams are their son, Staff Sgt. Bennie W. Sams, his wife and children from Savannah, Georgia, who will be with them until after September 1. Sgt. Sams is being transferred to Bagersville, Canada at that time, and his family will join him there later.

Capt. and Mrs. Robert Hunter Lindsey Miss Bennett, Captain Lindsey Married In Beautiful Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mary Ann Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Bennett, and Captain Robert Hunter Lindsey, son of Colonel (U. S. A. retired) and Mrs. Julian Lindsey of Washington, D. C., was solemnized at four thirty o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, the fifteenth of August in the sanctuary of the First Christian Church. The Reverend John Piatt, minister of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Steve Wiley, organist. The wedding party entered to the strains of the Purcell "Trumpet Voluntary" and the bride, escorted by her father, entered at Lohengrin's "Wedding March." Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was used for the recessional. Mrs. Harold Pearson, contralto, sister of the groom, sang "Ave Maria" by Bach-Gounod and "I Love Thee" by Grieg before the ceremony. Prior to the ministerial blessing Mrs. Pearson sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

Tall white candles in spiral candelabra were placed in the altar section of the pulpit and in branched candelabra at each side of the chancel steps, in the choir and organ niches. Large white satin bows marked the reserved pews.

The lovely bride wore a formal wedding gown fashioned of ivory peau de soie. The fitted bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and elbow length sleeves. Alencon lace covered the midriff and the spreading controlled skirt was encrusted with wide motifs of the lace, outlined with seed pearls and iridescents, these beaded motifs being repeated in the train. The back of the skirt was designed with soft folds from the waistline, finished with double silk loops and developing into a full circular train. The tiered veil of imported illusion fell from a small pillbox coronet, ornamented with beaded lace petals. The bride's only jewelry was a pearl drop, a gift from the groom. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis and white orchids placed on illusion and satin ribbons.

Miss Betty Bennett was her sister's maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Cardwell, Miss Ruth Louise Butts, Miss Eleanor Conley and Miss Carol Harper. They wore identical floor length gowns of French blue taffeta with detachable trains and their bouquets were sprays of white daisies backed with satin leaves and caught with satin ribbons.

Colonel Julian Lindsey served his son as best man. Ushers were Richard Cardwell, Dr. William P. McGuire, uncle of the groom, Harold Pearson, brother-in-law of the groom, Captain Larry Fitzgerald and Captain Bill Roll, former classmates of the groom at West Point.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bennett entertained with a reception at the Fulton Country Club, which was decorated with arrangements of white flowers. The bride and groom cut their wedding cake with the groom's military sword.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Hubert Bennett, grandmother of the bride, who presided at the guest register, Mrs. Ernest Fall,

Senior Citizens Not Content Just To Enjoy Themselves, They're Doers

Entertainment, refreshments and fellowship are the key words to the success of the local Senior Citizens Club. However, the members are not content just to satisfy their own personal interests. They take pride in promoting projects of their own and in participating in local projects.

Already the ladies of the group have made several quilts and have given them to fire victims. They are also a part of the drive "Blankets for Babies of South America." Other worthy projects are under consideration and will be developed later.

All senior citizens are invited to participate in the program. It costs nothing to visit or to join. The club is inter-denominational.

The meetings are held in the dining room of the First Methodist Church in Fulton from 2:30 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. the fourth Thursday of each month, through the courtesy of the church.

The club was organized for the benefit and pleasure of the older citizens of the community. In addition to a devotional program and a business meeting, there is entertainment at the meetings, by non-members or by talented members; also refreshments are served and a fellowship period is enjoyed.

Members of the club are hopeful that their own club room may be opened soon. It is planned to keep it open daily or several days each week.

One of the members, inviting others to join, said, "The more members we have, the more versatile we will become and the more influence we will have and, consequently, the quicker we will be able to attain our goals. Think about it, talk to a member, visit one of our meetings, or write us your views."

If transportation is needed to and from the meetings, call 1244, 837 or 420-M. Any information desired in connection with the Senior Citizens Club may be had by writing to "Senior Citizens Club, % First Methodist Church, Fulton, Kentucky."

CHESTNUT GLADE

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

The most welcomed rain that fell on Friday and Saturday could truly be described as a "million dollar rain". Pastures were particularly in need of rain and all crops will be greatly benefited by the much needed moisture. This area has been very fortunate in the amount of rainfall that has fallen this year.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Lucy Jones, who suddenly passed away Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Jones had been a shut-in for many months, but her passing was unexpected. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Harvey Carney, Mrs. Carlos Blackard, Mrs. Paul Howard; and five sons, Henson, D. J., Allen, Theron, and Marion; eleven grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren, a number of nieces and nephews and other relatives and friends who will miss her cheerful smile and gentle words. Funeral service was at Oak Grove Sunday afternoon, where a very large number of friends and relatives assembled to pay a tribute to one who was so much admired. Mrs. Jones was one of the oldest members of the Oak Grove congregation in years of age and years of membership in the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graves and children have returned to their home in Sheffield, Alabama, after attending the funeral of her grandmother Mrs. Lucy Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nix from Albuquerque, New Mexico are visiting his sister, Mrs. Jessie Brown, and other relatives here.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Morrow in the death of their infant son, who was born last Monday and passed away on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bondurant and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bondurant have returned to their home in Indianapolis, Indiana, after being here due to the death of their father Ray Bondurant.

The Couples Club of this community honored Mrs. Clara Nix and Wiley Sims with a birthday supper. Those enjoying the ham and all the trimmings were, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Billie Copeland and Gary, Mr. Sims and Mrs. Nix.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Simpson from Middleton, Tenn., were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige. They attended the Hall-Moody Reunion on Sunday. This was reported to have been one of the largest and most pleasant gatherings of this group, with many from a distance being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Vascoe Simpson met her cousin, Mrs. Ganelle Vowell Mankins, and son Jim in Memphis Sunday. While visiting Mrs. Mankins brother Jim Vowell in Ft. Worth, Texas, Mr. Mankins suffered an injury when water skiing so that he had to remain in the hospital there. This was a great disappointment as he was looking forward to the visit to the East. Mr. Mankins is the Commissioner of Agriculture for Tulare County, California. The Mankins live in Portersville, California.

Friends are happy to learn that Brother Brad Brumley, who was so critically injured in the car wreck when Sister Brumley lost her life, is improving at the Baptist Hospital in Memphis.

Mrs. May Ross is in a very critical condition. She has been bedfast many months.

EXPANSION COMPLETED

The recent completion of the new lodge at Buckhorn Lake State Park marks the end of the park expansion program begun by Kentucky in 1960. New programs will be started when additional money becomes available.

TERRY BEADLES

The fans who went to Lexington to watch Terry play were anything but disappointed as he amassed 124 yards, carried the ball eight times, and scored both of his team's touchdowns to win the game for the West with runs of 50 and 30 yards.

Terry was voted the most outstanding back on either team in the game. And Caldwell County High School Coach Fred Clayton, who coached his team, said, "He's our best all around quarterback." Terry was also one of the co-captains of the West team which defeated the East 14-0.

So outstanding was Terry's performance in the East-West game that the Louisville Courier-Journal ran stories centered around him in both its Sunday and Monday editions following the Saturday night game.

On the morning after the game, Courier-Journal sports writer Bob White reported from Lexington: "Terry Beadles, a slick-running quarter-back from Fulton, took a liking to his future home here by guiding the West high school all-star football team to a 14-0 victory over the East last night."

"Beadles, who in just a few weeks will report for freshman football practice at the University of Kentucky, thrilled a crowd of 10,000 with his running ability."

"Impressive in practice all week, Beadles didn't change his style a bit as he reeled off touchdown runs of 50 and 30 yards to spark the West to its seventh win in 13 meetings with the East. There has been only one tie in the series."

"Beadles, chosen the game's outstanding back, was all of that. On the West's third play from scrimmage, Beadles provided the winning points with a 50-yard run. Just to make the West's advantage a little more secure, Beadles found paydirt again in the second quarter. With 56 seconds left in the half, he fought his way away from two sure tacklers to dart 30 yards and six more points.

"For the 48 minutes of play, Beadles amassed 124 yards, over twice as many as any other back. He carried the ball eight times."

Among the many people from Fulton who made plans to attend the East - West game at Lexington were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beadles (Terry's parents), Darlene Roberts, Dr. and Mrs. Ward Bushart, Lynn Bushart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Browder, Bobby Hyland, Johnny Covington, Greg Williamson, Curtis Hancock, Duane McAllister, Tom and Ward Bushart, Jerry Kell, Donnie Green, Ronnie Homra, and Marshall Burgess.

DATA REPORTED

According to Ray Bard, Fulton County ASCS chairman, farmers in Fulton County had put 4550 bushels of 1963-crop corn under price-support loans and purchase agreements through June. Loan repayments had been made through June on 4550 bushels. These figures compare with totals of 78,861.92 bushels of 1962-crop corn put under support and 9580 bushels on which loans had been repaid through June a year ago.

CAMPING PROFITABLE

A recent survey shows that the average camping family traveling in Kentucky spends $158.47 in the state. The average stay is 6.4 days. Governor Edward T. Breathitt has pointed out that the state park system needs five times the number of camping spaces it now has to adequately handle the demand.

PROGRAM GROWING

Kentucky's vocational education program, growing every month, is making a $2,575,050 expansion in building facilities this year. The state now has a system of 13 vocational-technical schools scattered throughout the state. A unit in Paducah serves the eight counties of the Jackson Purchase.

Plans Made For Banana Olympics

Overall plans have been made for the Banana Olympics, which will be one of the major events of the first day of the Banana Festival, Oct. 1.

This event, which is being modeled after the Olympic Games held in Tokyo this summer, will feature area boys and girls in a number of track and field events.

Participation in the event will be open to all eleven and twelve-year-old students in Obidn and Fulton Counties who have not yet entered the seventh grade. State athletic eligibility regulations prevent junior and senior high school athletes from participating. All applications must be made through the school in which the entrant is enrolled.

Events for boys will be the 60 yard dash, 220 yard run, 880 yard run, 60 yard hurdle, 440 yard relay, 880 yard relay, high jump, broad jump, shot put, discus, and "banana throw."

Girls will compete in a 60 yard dash, 220 yard run, 60 yard hurdle, 440 yard relay, high jump, and "banana throw."

The Fulton Lions Club is sponsoring the event, and John Joe Campbell is chairman of the Banana Olympics Committee.

Other members of the committee are Billy Gore and J. E. McNatt, decorations; Jim Huffine and Bobby Scates, costumes; Wendel Butts and Kenneth Crews, rules and judges; Joe Treas and the Rev. John Platt, applications;

George Cox and Royce Cocke, parking; Lawson Roper and Dr. R. T. Peterson, tickets; Charles Wade Andrews and Dick Armstrong, field marking; Raymond Benedict and Vyrone Mitchell, publicity; Glenn Veneklassen and James Warren, awards; and Guy Fry and Earl Lohaus, program.

MAC and FAY IN PARADE

Mrs. Fay McNatt will again be doing some of her unusual and lovely designing when she enters a float in the Second International Banana Festival parade, from the Mac and Fay Flower Shop.

River Songs To Be In Music Program

Songs of the river, sung by Mrs. Bertha Wenzel of Paducah, will be a featured part of the Inter-American Music Fiesta on Friday, Oct. 2. Mrs. Wenzel is well known for her collection of river songs, some of which have been handed down from generation to generation for more than 100 years. She recently appeared at the National Folk Festival.

One of Mrs. Wenzel's old songs is "Ohio River, She So Deep and Wide," a story of the greatness of the Ohio. Mrs. Wenzel appears dressed in the fashion of 100 years ago as a passenger in a packet boat when this was the chief method of transportation on the Ohio. Her songs tell stories of the boats, the river, and the roustabouts who loaded cotton or other cargo which the packets carried from port to port.

Many of her songs were collected from roustabouts by her aunt, Mrs. Mary Wheeler. Some of these are songs of boats, work on the river, love, and incidents from life on the banks of the river.

The Guatemalan Army Band, a versatile group of singers, dancers, and musicians from Costa Rica, and folk singing and dancing from North America will complete the program. Tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce.

Guatemalan Bureau To Help Festival

Word has been received from Miss Ana Maria Crespo of the Central Guatemalan Tourist Bureau, that Guatemala will be sending a weaver to display the ancient art of weaving throughout the week of the festival.

Also coming to the festival will be a representative of the tourist bureau who will assist in arrangements for a display of Guatemalan paintings, pottery, and crafts of all kinds.

This is in connection with the display of arts and crafts from South and Central America and this country which is intended to demonstrate the coincidence of interest between this area and Latin America.

Mrs. Robert Rudolph, who is chairman of this event, has spent much time this summer touring Kentucky and Tennessee in search of crafts and arts typical of these states.

State Department To Send Official

The U. S. Department of State has joined the Department of Defense on the growing list of government agencies planning to participate in the Banana Festival, according to a letter received by Executive Secretary W. L. Cottrell.

The State Department, which has shown much interest in the festival's program of Inter-American friendship, will be represented by Oliver L. Sause, director of the Office of Central American Affairs. The arrangements were made by Assistant Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann.

Sause will make the official address welcoming the large number of ambassadors, cabinet members, mayors, and other high-ranking officials from banana-producing countries on Latin American Day, October 2.

ART SHOW

The work of two women print-makers who have achieved international recognition is being shown at the Paducah Art Guild Gallery at the Market House in Paducah through Sunday. The public is invited to visit the gallery through Saturday from 12 to 4 and on Sunday from 1 to 5. There is no admission charge.

Banana Box Derby To Be First Event

The first event scheduled for the Banana Festival this year will be a "banana box derby" modeled after the American Soap Box Derby held annually in Akron, Ohio. Local winners will have a chance at this event.

Two divisions have been set up for the derby, one for boys from 13 to 15 years of age and one for eleven and twelve-year-olds. The winners of the two divisions will compete for the grand championship.

Every boy who enters must build his own racing car, but may have supervision. A chart outlining the proper assembly of the racers is a part of the official set of rules given each entrant along with information on how the car is to be driven, what clothing should be worn, and how the race is to be conducted.

It will be permissible for boys to have sponsors for their cars.

The South Fulton Boosters Club is sponsoring the race and Charles Johns is in charge of the plan-

Kentucky Highways Get Federal Funds

A bill recently passed by Congress provides a total of $73,288,000 for building Kentucky roads in the year beginning July 1, 1965.

This total includes $7,502,000 for primary roads, $6,325,000 for secondary roads, and $2,502,000 for roads and streets in urban areas, all of which will be equally matched by Kentucky state highway funds.

Almost $60,000,000 will become available next July for work involving the Interstate Highway System. Kentucky will pay ten percent and the federal government ninety percent on these projects.

PRAY TOGETHER

Boys who want to enter but have not yet done so have been urged by the club to contact Johns or W. W. Jetton. The parent of the entrant must sign his application.

20 Miles From Where?

Many motorists mistakenly assume that mileposts such as this on Kentucky's Interstate and Parkway system denote the mileage from one town to another. Actually, the mileposts are used by police and other officials to pinpoint for ambulances or other emergency aid the location of accidents or vehicles in distress. The mileposts begin at zero on the western and southern borders of states and increase numerically until reaching the opposite border.

Prehistoric Indian Artifacts Show Big Attraction At State Museum

Daniel Boone is a real Johnny-come-lately to Kentucky compared to the prehistoric Indians whose artifacts, tools, and weapons are now on display at the Kentucky Historical Society Museum in the old State Capitol building in Frankfort.

Shell beads, stone maces, jars, and spear points from Indian cultures dating as far back as 15,000 B. C. comprise the bulk of the 1,200-piece collection permanently loaned to the State Museum by the University of Kentucky and private collectors Charles Johnson, Frankfort, and Clemens Caldwell, Danville.

The artifacts, representing four distinct Kentucky Indian cultures spanning the period from the end of the Ice Age to the influence of Colonial traders, comprise one of the most extensive collections on free public display in the state, according to Society Director George M. Chinn.

These cultures are the Paleo-Indian, nomadic hunters of 15,000-6000 B. C.; the Archaic or shell-mound Indians who lived off river mussels in Western Kentucky from 7000 to 1000 B. C.; the Woodland Culture of 1000 B. C.-900 A. D. when pottery making first appears; and the Mississippian Culture, 1000-1600 A. D., the first cultivators of corn, beans, and squash.

Included in the collection are such items as a 5,000-year-old tortoise shell gorget (neck charm) with a perfect cross carved on it, an atlatl hook used as a lever to throw a spear farther, and several perfectly preserved human skulls showing deformities caused by cradle board and skull binding.

Many of the artifacts were excavated at Indian Knoll in Ohio County and Fort Ancient in Mason County. McLean, Logan, Johnson, Butler, and Muhlenburg counties also contributed rich archeological finds. Most of the pieces in the University of Kentucky collection were gathered by the late Dr. W. S. Webb and Dr. Douglas Schwartz, both of the U. K. Department of Anthropology.

State Loans Get Heavy Equipment For Conservation

More than $800,000 was loaned during the last fiscal year from State funds set up to help Kentucky's soil conservation districts acquire specialized heavy equipment.

State Natural Resources Commissioner J. O. Matlick said the loans are made from a special equipment revolving fund, administered by the Department's Division of Soil and Water Resources.

The amount put under loan this fiscal year is $241,305 more than was loaned during the 1962-63 year, Matlick said. The funds are used by the districts to help purchase heavy equipment used in soil conservation work.

The loans provide up to two-thirds of the purchase price of equipment. The remainder is furnished as a down payment by private contractors who sublease the equipment from the local soil conservation districts.

The loans are paid by the contractors, who eventually receive title to the equipment. Matlick said the loan fund has allowed contractors to acquire many more pieces of heavy equipment than they could have otherwise purchased.

FAIR CONTINUES

The Sixteenth Annual Purchase District Fair in Mayfield will run through Saturday. It is co-sponsored by the Mayfield Jaycees, Lions, and Kiwanis Clubs.

AUSTIN SPRINGS

By Mrs. Carey Fields

Mrs. Bonnie Payne of near Mayfield is spending the week here with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Lantz and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vincent.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Argo a fine young lad on August 7 at Fulton Hospital, their first born. He answers to the name of James Chadwick. Both mother and babe are doing nicely.

Rev. Russell Rodgers filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. The baptismal service was held at Cuba Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon, when four candidates were immersed.

Fine rains have fallen in this area over the week end, greatly benefitting the crops and gardens and replenishing stock water ponds. All are grateful.

Glynn, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harris, has been a patient in Les Bonheur Hospital in Memphis the past week. His parents have been at his bedside. There is a report of improvement in the lad's condition, which has been serious for several days.

Some reports from the bedside of Rev. J. Lawrence McClain are that his condition remains about the same at his home, District 1. His children are at his bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lassiter and sons, Mark and Stevie, are on vacation with their relatives in Lansing, Mich., and his brothers, David and Leslie Lassiter, and families in Akron, Ohio. They will return the latter part of this week.

Your Wisest investment of time... REGULAR CHURCH WORSHIP

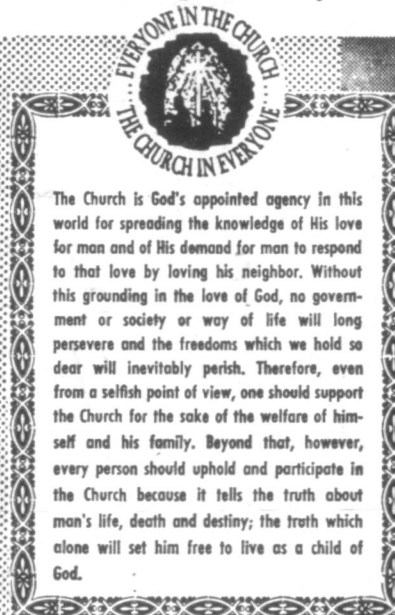

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

"REMEMBER, GRANDPA, WHEN..."

How Grandpa loves to hear that young voice say those magic words that mean, "We had good times together! I appreciate all the wonderful things you did for me when you were younger and able." Old folks love attention. They need it. They deserve to have it. They've spent their lives helping us, many times at the expense of their own desires and plans.

God commands us in Leviticus 19:32: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God. I am the Lord."

Honor the older ones, too, by attending church this week and taking them with you.

THE CHURCH IS GOD'S appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

KELLIE LOWE, JR.

Kellie Lowe, Jr. Purchases Station In Washington

Kellie Lowe, Jr. has announced the purchase of Radio Station KOFE in Pullman, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Lowe plan to move to the state of Washington around the first of November. Lowe has been active in broadcasting since 1956 when he joined WFUL in Fulton as an announcer. It was during his tenure there that "Operation Live Wire" was first begun.

KOFE is a 1,000 watt station on 1150 Kc. serving Pullman, Washington, a community of 15,000 which is the home of Washington State University with an enrollment near 7,000.

During the last eight years, Lowe has served as chief engineer for station WKOX, Hopkinsville; news director for station WAZY, Lafayette, Indiana; and, most recently, chief engineer and announcer for Station WMQM, a good-music station, in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe have made their home in Memphis for the past two years, during which time he received his B. S. degree from Memphis State University and their two children, Carolyn Nell and Theresa Lee, were born.

Lowe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Lowe, Sr. of 115 West State Line in Fulton. Mrs. Lowe is the former Miss Eugenia Harris, granddaughter of Mrs. L. O. Bradford, 215 Third Street in Fulton.

"What is that dream? A fully equipped club room or recreational center, a fellowship hall, for older people... and, yes, for shut-ins who could be brought by someone who cares.

"As an economical first step, it has been suggested that the Jesse Fields building, formerly King Motor Company headquarters, located at Carr and West State Line, might be available for the purpose. It is centrally located and easily accessible for all concerned.

"No doubt there will be many new and constructive ideas presented in due time and we can take the necessary action when all have been considered. In the meantime, any good words you might have for the movement will be appreciated."
